English Rows Townhomes—Naperville

The Home Builder Association of Greater Chicago presented Styczynski Walker & Associates, Willowbrook, a Crystal Key Award for multi-family design and six Gold Key awards for land planning and architectural design for the English Rows Townhomes in Naperville. The development features 52 two-and three story units focused around a formal English garden and reflecting pool. The Queen Anne style development was designed by architect Thomas Fend for the developer, System 27. A Gold Key Award also was presented for an addition on a Darien ranch home, which was transformed by architect Luka Andjelich and builder Tom Molitor of Clarendon Hills into a prairie style home with large overhangs and a striking arched entry.
